The Expositions at Columbus and Augusta—The Happenings of the Day in Savannah—Macon and Elsewhere.

Aspirants.—The races commenced at the exposition yesterday, and notwithstanding a slight rain the crowd was very large and the race good. The betting, however, as usual the first day, was light. On account of weather some of the entries were withdrawn, nevertheless there were enough in all the races to make them exciting and interesting. In the first race, $25, three-quarter mile dash for $25, Sam Harper won in 1:20. Pat Sheedy, second, Some Day, third. The start was good. Pat Sheedy took the lead and kept it until the last quarter of a mile, when Sam Harper forced ahead and the two ran up to the home stretch at neck and neck. Harper ran under the string almost a length in advance of Sheedy. Second race 1½ m., purse $300. Favor won in 2:01. Valerius, Hiram Wood, third. This was the finest race of the day. Valerius and Wood were both from Franklin, running two lengths ahead, until the home stretch, when Favor took the lead and won by a half length with hands down, while Valerius came in under the lash. Wood made a dead heat. The 3rd race was trotting three minutes, class-purse $150. On account of darkness, only one heat was run. Jerome won in 2:04. Pelegio second. Eddie Ray third.

The races today will be as follows:

The first race will be the completion of today's trotting race.

The second race, purse $300, one mile dash, all horses to be led for $1. The entries are Tropic, Major, Pelegio, Valerius and Eddie Ray.

The third race, purse $350, 1½ miles, three-year-olds and upwards. The entries are Bratt, Valerius and Hinman Wood.

The fourth race, purse $150—trotting 2:45 class entries: Harold, Linda Rose, Ella Carson and Eddie Ray.

In the horse show today, G. B. Morris of Washington, D. C., won the first prize for the best stallion, A. W. Street, of New York, second. Morris also won the first and second prizes for the best filly, for the best stallion and three colts W. McClellan of Waycross, the first, Morris, the second, and colt, J. E. Lewis, of South Carolina, the third. For the best mare three years old, William McClellan won the first and E. Harper the second. For the best gelding, McClellan also won the first and E. Harper the second.

There were nearly one hundred fine horses shown, and lovers of horses were greatly interested. The show was exceptionally good, and will continue during the week. Capra's hand attracted quite a crowd: In fact, the building is always full, and visitors arrive by the score. The opening of the exposition was here today. He speaks enthusiastically of the show, and says the people of his state will be here in great numbers to hear Grady's welcome speech on the 29th. Senator Butler will probably respond to Mr. Grady's welcome of the Carolinians.

Savannah.—What is called by some the "most important" is approaching a crisis. While earlier in the day for decisive action, the anxiety of the political factions is telling on the health of many political Titans. Tonight the Young Men's Democratic club will meet "to take preliminary action towards selecting a candidate for mayor." Whether they will take cannot be predicted, yet certainly Mr. D. C. Dubignon is president of the club, and is expected to be here in the interest of Mr. S. B. Adams.

Congressman Frank Lamar had a number of witnesses before him in the case of the United States vs. Kille and Berry. Walker, charged with robbing a country postoffice at Gadsden, was before the court. His brothers, Kyle, who is about nineteen years old, in his testimony stated that in the afternoon of Saturday, November 10, he reached his hand through a window in Postmaster Curtis's store at Odum, Wayne county, and removed the drawer from the safe. Curtis's hand being held, he took the money of which there was between $100 and $150, and left. He had no time to count the money, but wanted to get up the money, count it and divide, but he refused, and the cash is still beneath the ground. Berry denies any complicity in the theft. Chalmers, Wallace and other witnesses testified to his having spent money pretty freely after the robbery, and that he had no money left. It was known to have any. He explained this by the sale of cotton and other farm products. J. P. Anderson testified to Berry's having had gold coin in his possession, and J. A. Wheeler that he had offered to sell him a horse, and that Berry had it. He said that he had no money left, but he had a few dollars in his pocket. Mr. H. C. Griffin, Mr. Adams and others, testified as to the defense of Berry, in particular did not possess a good reputation. Deputy United States Marshal Holly has charge of the prisoners. Major Griffin, a postoffice inspector, worked on the case.

Rome.—The sale of lots in Primpin City opened yesterday. The weather was inclement, and weather a new town was presented to the public. A large number of lots were sold at good prices, the amount aggregating nearly $10,000. The sales will continue to Saturday, and a much larger crowd is expected. Primpin City is a growing and developing town, and the Primpin City Land company, with Colonel John C. Primpin at the head, will bring energy and life, money, to the city to become the most prosperous of Dade's suburbs.

Atlanta.—The fair is swelling rapidly. Mr. George H. Douglas, a Shreveport attorney in our town, was burned down last night about 11 o'clock. It is supposed that the fire originated from the chandelier in the sitting room. A large part of the furniture was saved. The house was insured for $1,000.

Mocon.—The shortage of City Treasurer O. F. Adair, and the want of money in the treasury, the lack of the sole topic of conversation in Macon. That people had no idea of any such state of affairs, it was a sad and staggering revelation to them. Captain Adams is about sixty-two years old, and has always had the confidence and good will of the people of this community, who have always taken pleasure in favoring him for office, and friend and foe alike regard this great trouble that has come upon him.

Hon. R. W. Patterson, member from Bibb to the house of representatives, was telegraphed for by Mayor Price as his attorney to come to Macon immediately, and he advised to come to council to present his case. Mr. Patterson was called to the city council held today at noon at the city hall, and submitted three resolutions he had drafted as soon as possible in his opinion. Two of these resolutions were accordingly introduced by Alderman Hudgings, chairman of the finance committee, and were unanimously adopted. The first resolution was to the effect that Treasurer Adams be immediately dismissed from office for negligence in office, and that the mayor and council proceed at once to the election of the successor to Treasurer Adams in the shortest period, ending about three or four weeks hence.

Mr. A. H. Tinsley was unanimously elected vice-vice. Mr. Tinsley is a highly educated citizen of Macon and thorough accountant. He has been in the wholesale grocery business in Macon many years, and has been a county commissioner and member of the city council. He will make a competent and efficient officer.

The second resolution was also unanimously adopted which provided that at 5 o'clock in the afternoon Mr. Adams must deliver to his successor, Mr. Tinsley, all the assets of any kind in his hands, belonging to the city, and that the mayor and finance committee be present to take an accurate account of all the assets as received from Adams. The bonds of Adams were also requested to be present.

The third resolution was introduced by Alderman Conner introduced a resolution to the effect that Mr. Tinsley be allowed to give a bond with his wife as surety, and that the responsible guarantee company. The resolution was adopted. It seems to be the sense of the aldermen that the treasurer's bond should be by some good security company, and when a treasurer is elected in Decatur, the regular term, he will be required to give such a bond.

It is not known whether or not criminal proceedings will be taken against Adams. City council does not appear eager to do so. It is thought by some that a criminal prosecution might delay, if it did not defeat, the collection of the shortage. All persons H. H. who is also a member of the grand jury may be summoned to council today, that, however much he would do his duty, on account of his personal feelings and friendly relations, he would be forced, under his oath as a grand juror, to present the matter to the grand jury. He did not propose to appear as the sole prosecutor from the city council, but was willing to stand by and respond with the grand jury in its course. It is very probable that the grand jury will act in the matter.

Yesterday Chief Connolly of Atlanta, telegraphed to Macon for the arrest of one B. F. Burton who had been living in Macon on a charge of bigamy. He was arrested in Atlanta on a charge of bigamy, and was held in Macon on a charge of bigamy. He was held in Macon on a charge of bigamy, and was held in Macon on a charge of bigamy.

Henry F. Woodall, a very prominent citizen of this country, and a man who has been through the fire, has been living in Macon a short while under the name of James Franklin. Officer J. Jones of the police force, known as Franklin, working at the Dixie works, and when Jones started to enter the factory Franklin fled. Later the boy discovered Mr. Woodall lying on the ground, and the boy took him to his home. He was informed that Mr. Woodall was a member of neighbors. Dr. W. C. Blackman was summoned, but Mr. Woodall was dead before he reached him. He was shot through the heart and lived only a few moments. He was unconscious when the boy found him. Mr. Woodall's body was lying in the garden, and the boy was unable to get him into the house. At this point one of the sides of the fence was missing, and a piece of wire had been stretched across the top to hold the planks together. From the location of the gun, the body and the condition of the fence, it is supposed that Mr. Woodall had crawled through this opening in the fence, and was shot through the heart and died before he reached him. is Catarrh

"For several years I have been troubled with that terribly disagreeable disease catarrh. I took Dr. Hood's Sarsaparilla with the very best results. It cured me of that continual dropping in my throat, and stifled up feeling. It has also helped my mother who has taken it for run down state of health and kidney trouble. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all as a good medicine." Mrs. S. D. Heath, Put-in-Bay, Conn.

"I confess that I was cured of a bad case of catarrh by Dr. Hood's Sarsaparilla two years ago." W. H. NOYES, East Jefferson, Me.

Permanent Good

"I have suffered with catarrh in my head for years, and paid out hundreds of dollars for medications. Dr. Hood's Sarsaparilla helped so much that my catarrh is nearly cured, the weakness of my body is all gone, my appetite is good—in fact, I feel like another person. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I have ever taken." Miss A. C. CURRINGTON, Providence, R. I.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me more for catarrh and impure blood than anything else I ever used." A. HALL, Syracuse, N. Y.

IDEAL BROILING.

Broiling can be done in the oven of the Charter Oak Range or Stove with the Wire Gauze Oven Door, more perfectly than over the live coals.

Allow it to remain in the oven with the door closed 15 or 20 minutes. No turning is required. At the end of this time it will be perfectly done, and ready to serve.

THIS IS THE IDEAL WAY TO BROIL MEATS. There is no taint of coal-gas on the meat, and the meats are more tender and better in flavor than those broiled over the coals. The convenience or broiling in the oven will be appreciated by every house-keeper, and added to the many reasons why the Charter Oak Range or Stove with the Wire Gauze Oven Door should be preferred to all others now in the market.

THE CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 23, 1888.

Savings Banks in Schools.

In various parts of the north a movement has been going on that ought to have a good deal of interest for the people of the south. As yet the movement is in the nature of an experiment, but there seems to be no reason why it should not be successful.

In perhaps forty schools in different states savings banks have been established. The purpose of these savings banks is to impress on the minds of the pupils the lesson of economy, and it is a lesson that may well be learned in connection with their literary studies, for it is a lesson that combines both business and thrift.

We are told that the savings banks are popular wherever the experiment has been tried, the pupils entering into the movement with earnestness and zeal.

The New York Graphic says that a little over three years ago these savings banks were introduced into some of the schools of Long Island City, and the experiment seems to have developed into a complete success.

The report recently published certainly makes a very gratifying showing. We present it here, as given in the Graphic. The first column represents the collections for the last week reported, and the second shows the total amount now in bank to the credit of each school:

First Ward Grammar.....	$27 67	$1,620 84
Third Ward Grammar.....	66 83	2,738 12
Fourth Ward Grammar.....	74 32	2,938 27

These figures are very practical. They show that the pupils of schools only need a reasonable and proper incentive to develop the economy and thrift that are the basis of only success, but of progress.

There has been no extra expense attached to this experiment thus far, and there need be none. The teachers assign one day in each week on which he will receive the voluntary savings of the scholars from one cent upwards. The different sums thus collected are deposited by the principal of the school on the same day in some bank, to the credit of each individual pupil, who receives a book or a card from the bank showing the sum deposited to his or her credit.

Sauckville and the Snobs.

The fact that me lad Sauckville has had the contents of his house in Washington auctioned off shows that the noble lord is sadly in need of money, and the bidding demonstrated the fact that the American snobs were anxious to part with theirs.

Such was me lad's necessity, that not a single article in the house was kept out of the auctioneer's hands. Even the german favors of the Misses West were sold, together with the baskets in which their beau had sent them flowers. Old parasols belonging to the young ladies were auctioned off, and the probability is that a good many old clothes belonging to the members of this noble family went under the hammer, though the Washington papers make no mention of it.

A great many articles, however, were new and unmade, such as brocades, and it is hinted that the noble lord took advantage of the fact that he could get goods duty free, and prepared to some extent for the sale. These British lords are very thrifty indeed.

But it must have been a beautiful spectacle—this sale in Washington—the American snobs scrambling for articles bearing the Sauckville crest, and the impudent lord grinning in a window.

If the democrats don't want two states made out of Dakota, they would do well to make one state out of it before the fourth of March.

An Old Journalist's Prediction.

Mr. David G. Croly, formerly managing editor of the New York World, has written an interesting book entitled "Glimpses Into the Future."

The author of this enthralling volume discusses the future of our politics, foreign relations, marriage, physical improvement of the race, fate of the negro, and the coming social war. The book is composed of dialogues between Mr. Croly, who calls himself "Spir Oracle," and various persons. The following answers to the questions asked by a statesman will be found interesting:

St. O.—There are more armed soldiers in the Christian nations of Europe today than was ever before known in the history of the world. We are on the eve of one of the mightiest conflicts that history has ever recorded. China and Japan were both peace-loving nations without armies or defenses, when to nothing could fighting; but the two powers of Europe compelled them to open communication for the sale of their opium. Protestant England and Catholic France sent their armies to Pekin to force the Chinese to buy their opium and goods. There is no instance in the history of a nation that was rich and unprotected which was not plundered by some robber nation that was well armed.

Statesman.—What particular nation do you fear? St. O.—Germany. In the coming international war the Germans will want money. England may be her ally, as well as Italy. These powers could easily capture our sea-ports and Great Britain, through the help of naval and military power. The slugger Sullivan, if unarmed, would be at the mercy of a boy 6 years old equipped with a loaded revolver. That is our position to-day. The time is coming when we shall be terribly humiliated.

We sees in our government, as in all others, a strong party of statesmen.

Statesman.—Your prediction is, that our government will become more and more paternal?

St. O.—Yes; not only our government, but all governments are taking on new and varied duties. When most of the nations were bound the king or emperor had very extensive powers. He led his army, he made war, he had the power of life and death, he was his own treasurer, and made all the laws, and controlled the functions of the state himself. But, as time went on, by a prime minister appeared to deal with foreign nations; then a statesman to collect the taxes; a minister of justice, and then that was recognized, and finally a minister to lead the different armies. Compare, for instance, the soldiers of King Clodius and Louis XI. of France, with that of the present French republican government. You will find that the tendency is toward the multiplication of departments at the seat of government as time goes on.

St. O.—What is the reason of this? His royal prerogative, how little real authority was had. Edward I. of England compared with a Gloucester or a Salisbury, the uncrowned king of to-day?

The cabinets of the latter represent nearly all the great interests of the nation. Notice how we in the United States are steadily adding to the functions of the general government. We have now our educational, agricultural, statistical, meteorological, and other bureaus, not to speak of the legislative, commerce commission, none of which were thought of in the time of Washington and Adams. Within a few years we will have cabinet secretaries representing the interests of the nation, and a agriculture, transportation, and probably labor. The State educational bill may not become a law while Grover Cleveland is president, but it is certain as to the education of the nation will finally be placed under the oversight of the central government.

There are other forecasts dealing with great problems. Mr. Croly fears a social convulsion. This will come, he says, after the cheap lands of the west are filled up; and the friction between labor and capital is such that there can be no peaceful adjustment. He believes, however, that the outcome will be beneficial. The race of multitudes will die out and the blacks will grow darker. The entire North American continent, including the West Indies and Sandwich Islands, will be absorbed by our republic.

Columns might be filled with these predictions, but we have doubtless given as many as the reader will care to digest. It is only fair to Mr. Croly to say that when he was at the head of a great newspaper he was singularly successful as a prophet. He is a bright and brainy man, and has made a careful study of the trend of events and their causes and conditions.

How a President is Elected.

Strictly speaking, it is a mistake to speak of General Harrison as the president-elect.

The people did not elect a president at the recent election. They chose a certain number of electors from each state, and under the act approved in February last the electors will meet in Washington on the second Monday in January to vote for a president and a vice-president. Of course a majority of the votes cast at that time will be for Harrison and Morton, unless one or both should happen to die before the meeting of the electoral college.

It is provided by the act that any controversy concerning electors may be conclusively decided by the state authorities six days before the electors meet. The governors of the states are required to furnish at an early day the proper certificate to each elector, and to transmit a similar certificate to the secretary of state. The governors are bound to notify the state department at Washington of controversies, and these notifications must be published in newspapers and laid before congress. On the second Wednesday in February congress will proceed to count the electoral vote. When any object is voted to each house votes on it separately. When there is only one return from a state no objection can be made if the electors have their regular certificates, but the two houses concurrently may reject votes not properly given by the duly certified electors. When there is a dispute over the electors from a state those votes are only to be counted which the two houses acting separately shall concurrently decide to be the votes of the electors approved by the law of the state.

THE WOMEN ARE REGISTERING in Boston for some sort of an election. They crowd the registration office in all sorts of weather. There is a good opening in that neighborhood for the man with a stethoscope.

SEVEN VIOLATORS of the New York election laws have been caught and caged.

THE TROUBLE BETWEEN Texas and Mexico caused by the protective works made along the river by the Mexican town of Paso Del Norte is not a neareable solution. The city of El Paso and the Texas town of Grant, in the state of New Mexico, were informed that the works would cause the American side of the river to lose territory, but nothing has been done, and the Mexican government has ordered the works to proceed. It will not do to ignore the rights of Texas in such a case. That imminent Commonwealth already has the two houses concurrently may reject votes not properly given by the duly certified electors.

SAINT LUKE'S CONCERT.

A Grand Musical Treat at Concordia Last Night.

A full house enjoyed the concert given by the choir of St. Luke's Episcopal church last night, in Concordia hall. The rendition of the madrigals, quartets, and other vocal numbers by the choir was a decided success. The organ and piano of Stearns and Tremont were greatly applauded.

W. H. Russell's "Sneezing" song was a feature of the evening. Messrs. Nixon, Burroughs, Tagwell, Toy, and Calman acquitted themselves well.

A "Stranger" who proved to be Mr. Tagwell, was called for six times. S. pleased was the audience with his performance, that a repetition of the same was demanded.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Colonel Fry's Reply to "Merchant."

EDITORIAL CONSTITUTION.—In your issue of the 21st instant an opinion article headed "Colonel Fry's Mistake" in that article "McName" said that "Colonel Fry had discussed the Terminal policy and Mr. John H. Jones in a kindly way and with a frank and cordial frankness." Mr. McName, however, in his article, "Colonel Fry's Mistake," said that "Colonel Fry was writing too much. And yet nobody is compelled to read what he writes.

A NEW YORK man traveled eleven thousand miles to vote in the recent election, coming all the way from South Africa.

LET THERE BE A UNAMINOUS response to the call made by the association.

SAINT LUKE'S CONCERT.

A Grand Musical Treat at Concordia Last Night.

A full house enjoyed the concert given by the choir of St. Luke's Episcopal church last night, in Concordia hall. The rendition of the madrigals, quartets, and other vocal numbers by the choir was a decided success. The organ and piano of Stearns and Tremont were greatly applauded.

W. H. Russell's "Sneezing" song was a feature of the evening. Messrs. Nixon, Burroughs, Tagwell, Toy, and Calman acquitted themselves well.

A "Stranger" who proved to be Mr. Tagwell, was called for six times. S. pleased was the audience with his performance, that a repetition of the same was demanded.

The first opportunity our people have had in a public hall to aid the helpless confederate survivors.

Let there be a unanimous response to the call made by the association.

WHAT TO BUY!

When you buy a watch or chain can it be a watch when you get the box, one that has a reputation as being a good time piece, such as either the Elgin or the Waltham. Not to be induced to buy a watch or Swiss or American made, but of equal quality that has been made or only sold by such jewelry houses that want to sell goods at a big profit. They do buy such watches at a greatly reduced price, and then sell them at a profit, and the same grade can be bought at, and then make you believe they give you a $50 watch for $30 where you can buy a good one at $20.
